COMPULSORY SCHOOL LAW.

THE FIRST PRISONERS UNDER 11 NOT PUNISHED.

If Tacy Do Not Make Their Sons Go to School Herenfter They Will Be Lin-ble to a $50 Fine, or $0 Days in Jail, or Both-About 50 More to Be Proscented. The school authorities tempered justice with mercy yesterday in the enforcement of the sections of the Compulsory School law that pro-vide for the punishment of those in a paternal relation to children who do not compel their wards to attend school. When John Walsh, a butcher of 112 Roosevelt street, and John Adolph of 480 Tenth avenue, were arraigned in Special Sessions, charged with allowing their sons, William Walsh and John Adelph, to stay away from school, William N. Locke, the chief of the corps of attendance officers, who was the complainant, showed the Justices letters from each of the prisoners, in which they acknowledged their fault and promised to do better in the future. In consideration of this promise the Justices, on Mr. Locke's recommer remitted the $5 fine in each case. Justice Jerome warned them that a second arrest for failure to obey the law would render them liable to a fine $50, or imprisonment for thirty days, or The law under which Walsh and Adolph were arrested went into effect on Jan. 1. It provides "every person in paternal relation to a child between 8 and 10 years of age, in proper physical and mental condition to attend school, shall cause such child to attend upon instruction, or shall present to the school authorities of his city or district proof by affidavit that he is unable to compel such child to so attend. Any violation of the foregoing provisions shall be a misdemeanor, punishable for the first offence by a fine not exceeding $5 and for each subsequent offence by a fine not exceeding $50, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both." The law provides that Courts of Special Sesalons held by Justices of the Peace, Police Justices, and Magistrates shall have exclusive jurisdiction in the first instance in charges of violation of the law. The law further provides for the punishment, by, a fine of $50, of any person or corporation that shall "employ any child between 8 and 12 years old in any business or service whatever during any part of the term during which the public schools of the district in which the child resides are in session, or shall employ any child between 12 and 14 years old who does not, at the time of such employment, present a certificate signed by the Superin-tendent of Schools of the city or district in which the child resides certifying that he has complied with the law." Early in January Superintendent Jasper began his preparations to enforce this law. Until It was enacted the truant laws made it possible to punish only the children. The truants when arrested were committed either to the Juvenile Asylum or to the Catholic Protectory, but there s no way to reach the parents, whose cooperation was essential to make the children attend school. When it was made possible to reach the parents, the nineteen attendance officers began their work with renewed vigor. They followed up the cases of truancy that they found, and to each parent a postal card was sent. These cards bore a printed announcement that the child did not attend school, and the part of the statute which makes the parent liable for such non-attendance. In many cases one such notification was sufficient to bring the truant to school. Where the first postal was disregarded another was sent. If this proved ineffectual a third was sent, and then a copy of the law. In every case the officers and teachers endeavored to have the child sent to school without resorting to criminal prosecution of the parents. The authorities are willing to be patient wherever there is an attempt to comply with the law, and in more than 1,000 cases they succeeded in getting the children to school without resorting to extreme measures. In all they found about fifty-eight cases where it was thought advisable to bring criminal action against the parents of truants. school. When it was made possible to reach the

In case a parent informs the authorities that he is unable to force his child to attend school, the truant may be declared incorrigible, but this is never done without rigid investigation. Many parents, when unable to make their children work, would be glad to surrender them to the State. The law provides that a child who is guilty of nothing more than truancy shait not be locked up where they are liable to be cantaminated by contact with hardened criminals. This makes a truant school necessary, and the building at 155th street and Third avenue, formerly used for Grammar School 62, is being fitted up for this purpose. It will be ready for occupancy in two months. The crowded condition of the schools makes it easier for the children to escape attendance, but this has been remedied in some measure by the holding of half-day sessions in the lower grades in the congested parts of the city. It has also been proposed that truant classes shall be taught in the abundoned janitors' rooms, which are not used for any purpose. Superintendent Jasper's idea is to form classes in manual training in these rooms. The truant officers may establish headquarters in the Elm Street School building, recently vacated by the Fire Department, and try cases there or in the trustees' rooms in the school buildings, so that the children would not be forced to go to a pulled court. n case a parent informs the authorities that the children would not be forced to go to a olice court.

Mr. Locke has recently sent a letter to the Mr. Locke has recently sent a letter to the other attendance officers telling them that it is not wished to have children declared incorrigible, and that the first charge should be brought against the parents. The law applies to industrial, public, private, and parochial schools. Mr. Locke says that in 69 per cent, of the cases where the teachers and officers have had the copperation of the parents they have been able to bring the truants to school.

Saloge of a Police Sergeant's Brother Open in His Precinct on Sunday.

Capt. Copeland of the Union Market squad was placed on trial before Commissioner Andrews yesterday, charged by Commissioner Roosevelt, President of the Police Board, with failing to make excise arrests in his precinct. The charges were technically made by Acting Inspector O'Keefe, upon evidence obtained by Policeman Rathgeber, the man who accompanied President Roosevelt on a saloon investigation tour in a cab on the afternoon of Sunday, May 3, 1896. Rathgeber testified that at Commissioner

On hearing his report, Commissioner Roose

On hearing his report, Commissioner Roosevelt had Capt. Copeland notified to arrest Fagan. This was done later by Policeman Foster of the Union Market squad, who testified to that effect.

Policeman Donnelly, who is charged with neglect of duty in not arresting Fagan, whose saloon is on his post, said he saw no evidences of excise violation while on duty.

After Dr. Cole of 251 Avenue B and other residents of the neighborhood testified that there was no apparent excise violation at Fagan's saloon, Capt. Copeland testified in his own behalf. He said he had been on the force ferty-one years, during which he had not been fined a single day's pay. He declared that he had given his men special instructions to arrest Sunday excise offenders. He did not know that Saloon Keeper Fagan was the brother of Poilce Sergeant Fagan.

IMMORAL PHONOGRAPH SONGS.

Anthony Comstock and one of his agents day morning two men whom they said they had been trying to arrest for two years. The prisoners were Russell Hunting, an actor, 31 years old, of 45 Clinton place, and Charles Carson, 37 years old, a clerk, of Newark, N. Hunting is accused of singing immoral songs into a phonograph. The cylinder con-songs into a phenograph. The cylinder containing the songs and stories, it is said, have been sent all over the country, and many persons have been arrested for using them Carson is accused of aiding and abetting liunting. Hunting and Carson, after pleading not guilty, waived examination, and were each held in $1,000 bail for trial.

Hunting has been playing with the "Shenandena" read company, and but recently returned to this city. Comstock's agent learned of his return, and, in company with two men who had been arrested for exhibiting the immortal cylinders, he called at his house several days ago to purchase some of the cylinders. He says that when he told Hunting what he wanted Hunting said he had only two cylinders on hand, but offered to make some new ones. At the suggestion of the agent the actor sang into a phonograph. The agent agreed to return and purchase the cylinders when flunting had them made, but instead, he had two policemen go to Hunting's house and arrest the actor.

MRS. SUITON'S SHIRT WAIST.

Carrie Seaman Poard in It After Her Mother "Did It Up."

WEST ISLIP, L. I., June 25. The differences between the family of Phonix Recesen, a millionaire resident of this place, and his former gardener, named Scaman, were brought out in Justice Griffith's court last evening. A week ago Mr. Remsen caused Seaman's arrest for a breach of the peace, alleging that the gardener had threatened to do bodily harm to the complainant's family.

Seaman occupied a cottage on the Remsen estate, which he refused to vacate when discharged. At the bearing Seaman was discharged upon his promise to vacate the Remsen premises. He immediately had Alfred Wagstaff Remsen, the sixteen-year-old son of Phonix Remsen, arrested on the charge of burglary in entering Seaman's cottage and removing a fox terrier owned by Mrs. Seaman. Young Remsen was arrested last Friday, but the case was adjourned in order to allow the defence time to retain counsel.

In the mean time, Mrs. Helen Rosalle Sutton. Mr. Remsen's daughter, had Seaman again arrested; this time on a charge of stealing a handsome shirt waist owned by her. Mrs. Scaman did the washing for Mrs. Sutton, and some weeks ago, Mrs. Sutton alleges, among the articles sent to be washed was a shirt waist, It was not returned with the other clothes, but was lent by Seaman to his daughter Carrie to have her photograph taken in. Later it was re-have her photograph taken in. Later it was returned.

Seaman was tried by a jury. The witnesses were Mrs. Remsen, Mrs. Suiton, and the defendant. Mrs. Suiton produced as evidence a photograph of Carrie Seaman attired in a shirt waist which, the witness declared, was her property and which Seaman had purloined and lent to his daughter. The waist was also exhibited, and was admitted by the defeadant and counsel to be the same or similar to that Miss Seaman were while being photographed. Seaman testified that he had never seen the waist until it was exhibited in court. The jury returned a verdict of not guility.

The examination of young Remsen on the charge of burgiary then took place. The boy was not sworn, but was allowed to make a statement in his own behalf. He said that his mother had directed him to go to Seaman's house and get the dog. He thumped at the door, but did not break it in, as his brother Cornelius had gained an entrance from a rear door and unfastened the front door for him. Mrs. Remsen also testified that the door house had been ther, and that she had sent her son there to get Remsen also testified that the dog belonged to her, and that she had sent her son there to get it. Seaman alleged that the house had been broken into. Counsellor liarry it. Clock, attorney for the defendant, cited a recent decision of the Supreme Court holding that the relations between master and servant were such that the law gave the former the privilege to enter at any time the rooms of the latter. The magistrate discharged the defendant.

Seaman, it is understood, has retained Lawyer Reid to commence a civil action for $5,000 damages against Mrs. Sutton for false arrest.

for the cost of the road, and there is no $55, 000,000 available. We are not that less than $10,000,000 is available. We are not only handraped by the Judges decision, but we are precluded for the time being from doing anything at all."

Mr. Charles Frederick Adams of the Social Reform Club declared that the opinions of the Justices carried no weight, as they had no jurns diction to decide the question of expense. All they were asked to do was to approve or disapprove the Commission's report.

Mr. Clegg said that the elevated railroad structure was rotting. "To place our trust in the Manhattan structure," he said, "for rapid transit for a long time to come were as foolish as to trust in the Manhattan Railway Company's promises, or in the Manhattan Railway Company's respect for the law."

Chatriana Orr asked wearily, "Has any one anything to say likely to affect the question at lawe?"

E. B. Hawkes said: "You Commissioners anything to say likely to affect the question at issue?"

E. R. Hawkes said: "You Commissioners want backbone. Remember, the will of the people is greater than the Constitution. Let your lawyers show you how to build the road. If they can't do it, get other lawyers. The other side got smart lawyers and they threw you down. That's all there is to it. Now try again."

Mr. Orr thought that Mr. Hawkes was out of order and the Commission went into executive session.

WHAT LAURIER WILL DO.

HE ANNOUNCES THE CANADIAN LIBERAL POLICY.

Says They Will Apply Themselves at Once to a Revision of the Tariff-Will Let the Mouse of Commons Settle the Manito-ba School Question-Tupper's Mistake, OTTAWA, Ont., June 25,-Sir Charles Tupper has telegraphed for his colleagues to return to Ottawa. When the Cabinet reassembles it will be decided whether to meet the House or to resign forthwith. Respecting the elections, Sir

Charles says:
"So far as I am personally concerned I gladly accept the verdict of Tuesday, which relieves me from great responsibilities devolving upon the leader of a Government. When I came to Canada last winter I found the Conservative party utterly demoralized and was rejuctantly compelled to consent to become its leader as the only hope of avoiding deteat. The fatal mistake had been made of refusing to disselve Parliament immediately after the adoption of he remedial order, and of calling a session of Parliament, whose life terminated on a specific day, to deal with the Remedial bill, thus offering the greatest possible inducement to obstruc

"I do not at all regret having placed my services at the disposal of the party, as otherwise I would have been held responsible for its de-feat. The Conservative party will now do its duty as the loyal and constitutional opposition, and if Mr. Laurier will cease coquetting with the national policy and come out squarely in favor of maintaining efficient protection for varied industries in Canada, he will not en-counter that obstruction from the Liberal-Conservative party which we always met with from opponents of that policy."

Should Sir Charles Tupper decide to meet
Parliament and seek defeat on a vote of want of confidence, his resignation will then follow. On being called upon to accept office, Mr. Laurier and those who associated themselves with him would be compelled in that event to return to their constituencies for redlection. If, however, Sir Charles Tupper decides to re-return to their constituencies for reelection. If, however, Sir Charles Tupper decides to resign, say this week, it is contended that Mr. Laurier and his Ministers would not need to go to their constituencies again.

Montrient, June 25.—Hon, Wilfred Laurier, Liberal leader, arrived here from Quebec this morning. In an interview he said:

"We have been elected on a platform of tariff reform and it is on those lines we intend to work. We shall apply ourselves at once to the revision of the tariff; but whatever we do will be done slowly, and, moreover, no steps will be taken likely to affect any particular interest without due notice having been given, so that all concerned may know what our intentions are and why we consider it expedient to make contemplated changes."

With regard to the school question Mr. Laurier said that it would be settled in the liouse of Commons. He had not decided yet upon the composition of the coming Liberal Cabinet.

London, June 25.—The Times says to day that the Church in Canada, as in other lands, has lately been losing something of its old power over the lasty. The Times expresses regret that it has been the fate of Sir Charles Tupper to assume the Conservative leadership at a time when the party was marching to its first overthrow in cizinteen years, but says it is glad to see a Premier of the French race, because it is a conspicuous token of the solidarity of the two races composing the population of the Dominion. The paper pays a tribute to Mr. Laurier's loyalty to Great Britain.

The Patilly Chronicle says: "The Canadians have shaken themselves free from the grip of the Protectionist and Clerical parties. The failure of so doughty a champion as Sir Charles Tupper is a measure of the strength of the reaction."

"Since the death of Sir John A. Macdonald the Conservative party in Canada has been losing its grip upon the electors, but its present fall is ascribable to the virulent animosity engendered by a relicious and educational issue."

The Globe says: "If any Americans look to Wiffred Laurier to betray his country they are doomed to disappointment."

The S. James's Gazett regrets the result, and thinks that Sir Charles Tupper's pluck deserved a better fate. Continuing, the paper says: "The Liberals were perfectly loyal to the imperial connection, yet they dallied dangerously with reciprocity with the United States. The Conservatives were the keenest for the establishment of a commercial golderein among the servatives were the keenest for the establishment of a commercial zollverein among the various parts of the British empire. The Americans are rapidly beating us out of the Canadian markets, and Mr. Laurier and his friends will not stop the process. The project to unite Canada, Great British, and Australia by a line of fast subsidized steamers is not likely to be pushed with much vigor." pushed with much vigor."
